Power

Boom! The universe was formed...the earth was born

Man took dominance over man...the Pharaoh's, Caesar, Pontius Pilot, Attila the Hun, Napoleon, Stalin, Hitler, Idée Amine, Popot, Sadam and George Bush.

All took dominance over other men, murder was their crown, their staff was obedience.

They slaughtered all in the name of god...their pockets lined with gold and the souls of the dead.

Men with stars on their shoulders and stripes on their sleeves, led men into death's path.

Men with bank accounts growing day after day, while starving children roam their lands.

Sheets wrap their heads, while oil runs thru their veins; diamonds in their eyes...the blood of their people flowing freely into rivers of despair.

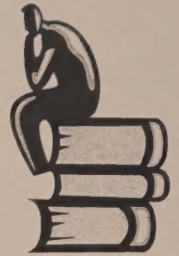

Seats in dome buildings filled with men and women who represent only themselves and their contributors of greed.

The Roman Empire fell for these reasons

How long before our country will fall? Imagine

Corner New at the Library...

The new Library Learning Lab (a.k.a. computer lab) has been approved for occupancy and is now open for business! For students this means improved access to the Internet and to our own on-line resources in support of their education. For us this means that we're making progress on our promise to provide technology for student success!

Thanks to the Technology Committee for their planning and guidance, and a special thanks to Greg Riehl, Randy Collver and the Computing Services, Maintenance, and Library staffs for their work in bringing this plan to fruition.

A new elevator lift has been installed and operational for ease in access to the Lab's upstairs location.

YOU MAKE ME SICK!

(Do I have your attention now?)

The cold and flu season is upon us, and I've seen plenty of coughs, sneezes and sniffles. C'mon, we're all adults here--aren't we--do I really need to remind you how to help prevent the spread of germs?!?! Apparently I do, because I have seen too many uncovered sneezes and coughs to be silent any longer. Remember, we have all invested a lot of time and money to be here and further our education, so let's not waste that investment by making each other sick. None of us has time in our schedule to miss class and spend a few days miserable at home.

#1 way to help stop the spread of germs? Wash your hands often, especially before you eat and after you use the restroom.

The bug got you even after you remembered to wash your hands? Now it's your turn to show some germ etiquette and cover your coughing and sneezing. Children are being taught to turn away from other people and cough or sneeze into their elbow, or lift the collar of your shirt and cough or sneeze with your shirt covering your face from the nose down. It takes some getting used to, but it works!

If you cover your cough or sneeze with your hand, be sure to turn away from people, because germs are blasting every direction and getting around your hand. If you've coughed or sneezed into your hand, wash your hands before you touch something another person might touch. Wiping it on your jeans or shirt doesn't get the germs off your hands, and it's kinda gross. After you blow your nose or use a tissue, wash your hands again. Have you noticed a common mantra? Oh yeah, wash your hands.

When that germ stops with you and you don't give it to anyone else, we all benefit and appreciate your extra effort. Have a healthy term, and stop the germs.

Thank You!

A fellow student,
Wishing to stay Well this Winter

A MESSAGE FROM OUR DEAN OF STUDENTS...

dent leader and representative, and we're sorry to see him leave this position. He not only participated in student government, but also has represented you on Clatsop Community College's President's Council. We'll miss his great sense of humor and thoughtful views on topics important to students here on campus.

The good news is that Vice President Ashley Wilson has taken over the role of President and has already picked up where Brian left off.

Also assuming a new position is Sarah Fessler who will move from Activities Coordinator to Vice President. Continuing on in their current roles are Secretary/Treasurer Tiffani Linford and Bandit Editor Chrystal Zander-Larson.

These students are devoting a lot of time working for you and they are greatly appreciated.

If you're interested in joining this group there are currently two openings for Senators, one in Sports and Clubs the other in Social Activities. More details about these positions are included elsewhere in this newspaper. I'd encourage you to consider joining this leadership group. You can make a difference on this campus by your involvement.

Student Government sponsored this week's Student Forum at Maxine's. This is the first of three Forums to be held during this school year. Topics of conversation included parking concerns, course scheduling, instructors' schedules and the great food at Maxine's.

Financial Aid Director Sharon Boring answered questions and concerns about how work study is awarded and the deadlines for applying for aid. If you want to know more about what Sharon had to say to the forum, see her article in this edition of The Bandit. This reminds me, some of you may be able to benefit from applying for Financial Aid. Why don't you drop by and ask for more information about aid and scholarships that might be available to you. It doesn't hurt to ask. See Sylvia on the second floor of Towler for more information.

Another hot topic of the Forum had to do with security issues. Students indicated they would like to have better lighting in the parking lots and a more obvious security presence during the evening hours. I will carry these concerns forward and let you know what can be done to assure greater safety on campus.

Several of you have been asking about the bus stop. We are contacting Sunset Empire Transportation to determine why there has been a delay in erecting a new shelter. Watch this column next month for updated information about this issue, but we are monitoring the situation and expect answers soon.

In response to your comments I'll be working on potential solutions to a number of the issues that were discussed at the Forum. Thanks to those who participated, we really appreciate it. I'm hoping that you'll all be part of the Forum next term. Look for the date in this newspaper. In the meantime if you would like to contact me you may reach me by e-mail at rfriesen@clatsopcc.edu, call me at 338-2456, or stop by Student Services on the second floor of Towler, Room 200. I'll look forward to hearing from you.

I'm also looking forward to the Finals Fiesta to be held on December 7th. Those great cooks at Maxine's will be providing the food, plus I understand there will be a Mariachi Band and special beverages. Look for the specifics elsewhere in The Bandit.

Talk to you soon,
Roger Friesen
Dean of Student Services

Changes in Financial Aid Communications

By Sharon Boring

Students at Wednesday's forum expressed concern about several issues related to receiving critical information from the Financial Aid office. In response to those concerns we are making some modifications to our student communication. In addition to the current publications, the Financial Aid Office will remind students via CCC student e-mail when important dates are approaching. Including notifying students when financial aid applications need to be completed, when scholarship applications are due, when priority dates for funding are approaching, and other important information of which students need to be aware. It will be important for students to remember that e-mail is being used for these purposes and students will need to periodically access their student e-mail account. We will begin notifying students about the use of e-mail notices in our publications and will publicize this in The Bandit and on the financial aid web site. Here's how to access you email account:

On Campus:

Students may use the GroupWise client software on the computers in the labs and in Sea Services or the web access component. (More about the web access component later in the Off Campus section.)

The email login is the same as a student's Novell network login. It is constructed as follows: The first letter of the student's first name, their last name and the last three digits of their student id number.

The password for a student account is their birthday in the following format:

YYYYMMDD For example, 19451029

Off Campus:

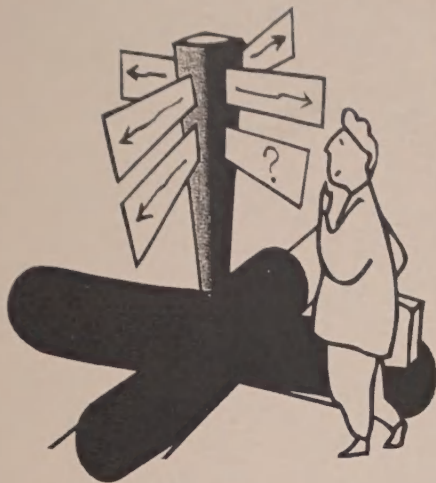

Students may point their browser to <http://gwmail.clatsopcc.edu> and they will be presented with a screen for the web access side of the email server. They will select a language and then enter their user account and password. Any student, staff or faculty member that wants a free copy of the GroupWise client may download it for free from Novell. There is no charge for the software.

We will also send reminders to on-campus work study employers so that they can encourage their work study students to complete their financial aid applications early in order to retain work study eligibility the following academic year.

Students have been notified in their initial Award Letters that they must complete an Attendance Verification form and submit it to the Business Office when they pick up their initial funding. However, no notice was on subsequent Award Letters when students were awarded additional funding. Notice will now be added to revised Award Letters reminding students to complete and submit an Attendance Verification form any time funding is picked up in the Business Office.

It's our hope that these additional steps will help assist students in receiving all the aid to which they are entitled in a timely fashion. If you have questions or more suggestions please contact the Financial Aid Office at 338-2322.

Rain Magazine Accepting Submissions for 2006

Rain Magazine, Clatsop Community College's annual student literary magazine, is accepting submissions now through January 10, 2006. In honor of the 2005-06 Corps of Discovery Commemoration, Rain presents a special edition exploring the theme Spirit of Discovery. Diverse reflections on the Lewis and Clark Expedition are welcome, including creative documentation of local Destination the Pacific festivities. The magazine also welcomes diverse interpretations on the theme – poems, prose, and artwork that explore the ongoing role of discovery in our contemporary North Coast and Long Beach Peninsula lifestyle.

Submissions will be accepted from the public as well as CCC students. Please submit no more than three written works. Prose (fiction or nonfiction) should be typed and double-spaced. Be sure to include name, address, email and phone number on each title page. Artwork can arrive as quality reproductions, or deliver originals to the Jerome Avenue campus in Astoria, in Fertig Hall, Room 3. The final deadline for submissions is January 10, 2006.
